H.G. Wells was a science fiction mastermind of tales that tickled our imagination and sparked wonder in our minds. He wrote such classic stories as "The War of the Worlds", "The Time Machine", "The Invisible Man" and "The Island of Dr. Moreau" (all of which have been made into movies various times). Another tale he wrote was "The Man Who Could Work Miracles", which he himself made this film adaptation.

"The Man Who Could Work Miracles" is a light-hearted comedy, that although it gets away from Wells' usual science fiction flare still delves into the unknown. It is about a guy who can work miracles. the story covers how he tries to find and keep love and hide his powers from the world. Then when he is found out and people try to use his gift for their own purposes you will see what a young man would do to keep his life his own.

For a classic flick that will make you laugh with your heart pick up a copy of "The Man Who Could Work Miracles".
