Young woman with an ill daughter is forced to take a job as a stripper in order to raise some quick cash. Her latest gig is at an old mental asylum. The people who run the unit take her captive and force her to confront her sins, to purify her body which includes mutilation, to pay her penance.

More of a series of vignettes than an actual movie. The next one meant to be more shocking and disturbing than the previous one. On that level, a successful film. Includes some scenes that are awfully hard to stomach, though some of the film's horror is wisely left to the viewers imagination. Stand out sequences include two scenes in which the genital areas are mutilated. A series of cameo appearances by various horror film stars also help maintain interest throughout.
