Movie spoofs are tricky business,because the filmmaker is presuming being "spoofed".Fortunately for me, within a few minutes of watching.I found a funny spoof of "Zombieland". While watching the opening credits,I saw a star name scroll by,but he's not involved with the writing , directing, or producing a cameo appearance near the beginning of the film playing the father of the main character in this film.

This film is so over the top in warped humor,I would have been happy lol The more twisted and outrageous,the funnier it is for me!! I guess the insanity of the movies made by Lloyd Kaufman. I think that Cheryl, Lovell, and come up with a sequel for not only this film,but also,a spoof
