

IGGY POP: LUST FOR LIFE

FILM ★★

Clocking in at a measly 41 minutes, this 1986 documentary at least has great archive footage and candid interviews with the then-39-year-old Iggy and the late Stooge Ron Asheton, who takes us round his old haunts in Ann Arbor. ■ MATT YATES

PUNK IN ENGLAND

FILM ★★ EXTRAS ★★

Reupholstered version of film-maker Wolfgang Büld's po-faced 1980 punk doc. Incendiary live footage of The Jam and The Specials aside, does anyone really need to hear Bob Geldof blathering on about himself again? No. ■ SIMON McEWEN
