Get The Hell

Article posted on 01.17.2014 | 711 reads

"Now they all look just like idiots and stop 's not making a fool of himself, with the age one begins to care for country music. " ("Country Music" / The aeronaut)

The Supersuckers are ancient, and the country number they have been through. The distorted guitars roar again and Eddie Spaghetti bears Trucker Cap Stetson instead. To see this is in the video for - you have to put it this way - excellent first catchy single "Pushin 'Thru" on what they sound like SOCIAL DISTORTION with her proper fire under the broader become ass. (Although it is noticeable that SOCIAL Ds Mike Ness is also ancient, he also has the country already by number.)

"My friend Eddie and I, my friend Eddie and I, my friend Eddie and I, my friend Eddie and I, my friend Eddie and I!" ("Eddie and I" / The aeronaut)

Eddie Spaghetti must have long ago become anyone's friend more - and I doubt that was ever the case. The Supersuckers are still explicitly even after a quarter of a century and start a poetic offensive between bold-casual innuendo, dark flashing sunglasses, middle finger with brass knuckles and illegal substance that has washed away but it is so dirty that people under 21 years and above 23 clock should refrain from consumption. The record starts with apocalypses intro, the following title track "Get The Hell" goes with "outta here" further and also most of the following waiting with talking, oh what: screaming, tracks on ("High Tonight", "Bein 'Bad ", " Shut Your Face ", " Disaster bastard ", etc.). The age leniency can wait.

"The Super Suckers have no business being this good after all synthesis years! (...) This record is a juggernaut, front to back, and is guaranteed to be your new favorite record of 2014." (Eddie Spaghetti)

The illustrated lyric pearl necklace serves on the ninth Studioalbum his band as corresponding refinement Rawk songs with eggs from free-range at least. The skirt of the SUCKERS needs to do for years no more uptempo to get the blood flowing, even in mostly moderately rapid speed of the pulse going while listening to the top. Besides the already mentioned "Pushin 'Thru" impress "Get The Hell" the most catchy "Something About You" and "High Tonight". But catchy choruses and catchy melodies are in the majority of the dirty dozen to rockers with punk core of honor. Even the covers of Gary Glitters "Rock On" and DEPECHE MODES "Never Let Me Down Again" do not fall out of here. The coolness of this disc dripping ice cold from each groove - and constantly seen in the mind's eye any tattooed types in the dusty sun on the edge of the desert. There not even require the harmonica as it is used in "Fuck Up".

"Then she asked a new question, and unfortunately I had to give this answer: '. Quite a lot of country music' (...) They said: 'Oh Gottchen', and went on with her glass. " (Franz Dobler: "The Beast In Me")

Of course, the right, the alternative country is in 2014 still cool. On the homepage of the band Mr. Spaghetti wears well still be the broad-brimmed and Get The Hell was recorded at Arlyn Studios by Willie Nelson. In Austin / Texas.
