SICMONIC/Somnambulist (Aural Music) This was some industrial style music with some thrash and death metal thrown in. Some parts I loved and some I hated. First the good, the music is sort of like Fear Factory, Godflesh and some thrash mixed in together and it is a cool combo as this is more faster and brutal than Fear Factory. The bad is the singing which is great in spots and in others he does the low guttural style and then the super high style, which is super over used. The production on this is great and besides the vocals is a pretty solid release. Info:
