

NEWS ▾ MOVIES ▾ AWARDS ▾ TELEVISION ▾ BLOGS ▾ FILMMAKING ▾

MORE ▸ REVIEWS | BOX OFFICE | INTERVIEWS | FESTIVALS | CRITICWIRE | SUNDANCE | VIDEOS

Jenny Slate
Discusses 'Obvious
Child'

8 Films That Remind
Us of 'Mad Men'

More Than an
'Abortion Comedy'

Actors Who Made the Leap

Bobcat Goldthwait
Does Found Footage

NEWS

BY ERIC EIDELSTEIN
MAY 22, 2014 10:14 AM
0 COMMENTS

Like 1 f t g+ 0 | + 2

Odd Greek Comedy 'L' Acquired by BrinkVision

16
f SHARE

15
t TWEET

COMMENT

g+ GOOGLE+

EMAIL

PRINT

SUBSCRIBE

'L'

BrinkVision has acquired the North American distribution rights for "L," a strange comedy film from the writer of the Oscar-nominated "Dogtooth."

READ MORE: Meet the Sundance Filmmaker #34: Babis Makridis, "L"

The quirky story follows a 40-year-old man who lives in his car and only meets with his family at a specified date in car parking lots. After getting fired from his job, he abandons his car, and his life begins to take on a new meaning. "L," which played at Sundance in January 2012, is directed by Babis Makridis and written by Efthymis Filippou.

BrinkVision will release "L" on DVD and VOD August 26.