

JACKASS FOREVER
(Blu-ray) /
Paramount Home Ent.

Embraced by critics and audiences alike, the sublimely inspired and seriously messed up jackass forever, has arrived, with exclusive footage of more ill-advised and outrageous stunts not seen in theatres. jackass forever brings the crew back for another outrageous round of stunts and bad ideas. With new friends and loads of celebrity guest stars, the crew take pranks to ridiculous lengths where absolutely no one is safe and all senses are frayed. From exploding port-a-potties to hockey pucks to the nuts and performing magic for an un-amused bull, jackass forever is a hilarious roller coaster ride like you've never experienced before. With nearly 40 minutes of outrageous and hilarious stunt footage, jackass forever features the older and grayer but not wiser, Johnny Knoxville and the gang.

PUSHING HANDS (Blu-ray)
Film Movement Classics

Having just moved from Beijing, elderly tai chi master Mr. Chu (Sihung Lung) struggles to adjust to life in New York, living with his Americanized son Alex (Ye-tong Wang). Chu immediately butts heads with his put-upon wife daughter-in-law, Martha (Deb Snyder), a writer who seems to blame him for her own paralyzing inability to focus. But when Chu begins teaching tai chi at a local school, his desire to make a meaningful connection comes to fruition in the most unexpected of ways. Presented in a stunning new 2K restoration, Pushing Hands is the debut film from Oscar-winning director Ang Lee, forming the first chapter in his "Father Knows Best" trilogy, which depicts the tensions between the traditional Confucian values of the older generation and the realities of modern life, co-written by collaborator James Schamus. Director Lee's worldwide success includes films such as Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon and Brokeback Mountain.

MEGADETH - A NIGHT IN BUENOS AIRES (Blu-ray) Cleopatra Records

A Night In Buenos Aires, was filmed live at Obras Stadium, Buenos Aires, Argentina, on October 9, 2005. Megadeth is one of the most commercially successful heavy metal bands, selling more than 20 million albums worldwide. In the U.S. alone, Megadeth have received four platinum records, six gold records, and seven Grammy nominations for Best Metal Performance. A monster concert extravaganza from metal legend Megadeth, performed in Argentina before thousands of adoring fans. Founder/vocalist David Mustaine leads his band through several of Megadeth's best loved tracks including, "Symphony of Destruction," "Tornado of Souls," and "Holy Wars ... The Punishment Due," plus several tracks from the then brand new album The System Has Failed! Also included are liner notes from Mustaine reflection on this historic and memorable live performance.

LOVECUT (DVD)
Omnibus Ent. /
Film Movement

Six teens in Vienna. Six tales of awakening desire in the digital age. Lovecut is a film that tracks the intertwining stories of three young couples, and keenly observes the contemporary challenges of identity and sexuality posed by the digital age. As the virtual nature of Alex and Momo's relationship allows them to conceal uncomfortable truths, Ben and Luka's promising match on a dating app collides with the barriers they face in real life. Meanwhile, Anna and Jakob realize the radical visibility of uploading their sex life to the web. With a careful aesthetic that avoids anything too scandalous, and a cast as young as they are talented, writer/directors Linna Estanol and Johanna Lietha pull the curtain back on teenage relationships and friendships in this hedonistic and technology-driven 21st century.

WHY IS WE AMERICANS? (DVD) / Corinth Films

By turns kinetic and intimate, Why Is We Americans? is an in-depth, cinematic exploration of Newark's legendary Baraka family, the patriarch of which being Amiri Baraka (formerly known as LeRoi Jones), one of the most prodigious African/American poet/playwright/activists of our time. From the Newark Rebellion of 1967 to the current day, the city's narrative has been one of revolution with each generation picking up where the previous had left off. Why Is We Americans? Weighs in on Newark's struggle against oppression through the personal triumphs and tragedies of the Baraka family — from Amiri's civil rights leadership and ultimate artistic marginalization, to the horrific murder of his sister, Kimako, through the homicide of daughter Shani (one of the first openly gay black activists) to the historic election of Ras Baraka as mayor of Newark, New Jersey ... and through it all, it is the matriarch, Amina Baraka, who emerges as the story's lodestar and moral compass. Spanning decades of social activism, poetry, music, art, and politics, this kaleidoscopic family saga is framed by on-camera interviews with Executive Producer, Ms. Lauryn Hill and local civil rights leaders, rare archival footage and revealing personal testimonials. As people connect with the iconoclastic poet Amiri Baraka, his wife, Amina and their son Ras, a portrait of a city emerges with an inspiring call to arms in the fight for class and racial justice.

HIS LAST TRAIN OUT OF BROADWAY STATION

The news story seemed so gruesome. Someone traveling inbound ended up dead at the Red Line's Broadway Station recently when his arm was caught in a train door and the train dragged him into the tunnel where he died from his injuries. How does something like this happen today? I thought doors wouldn't close if not completely clear of anyone or anything. This case is being investigated.

I still vividly remember an incident that took place when I was 9 years old. I was riding the front car on the Orange Line at the old Dover Station. As the doors closed someone holding a cane in their hand, stuck their arm inside the train and became stuck when the doors closed. The train started to move out of the station toward Northampton Station. My mother and others on the train started screaming.

I ran to the motorman and started yelling and banging on the door. The train came to a swift halt and a tragedy was averted. It is a horrible thing to feel helpless watching something bad happen. Thank God, that person back in 1957 was in the first car where the motorman drove the train.

Word to the wise, don't rush to get on a train or bus. There's always another one coming. I never thought that 65 years later it would happen again, except this time the train didn't stop.

BLUE WAVE HITS DIVIDE, COLORADO

ties that Sicily has with Greece. Did you know that Plato lived his whole life in Ancient Greece and never left the island of Sicily, which actually made him a Greek Sicilian?

DAN RIZZO'S ST. PATRICK'S DAY PARTY

Former mayor and now city councilor of Revere Dan Rizzo held his annual St. Patrick's Day celebration a bit late this year on Friday, April 8th at the Mottolo Post. Being served was the traditional corned beef and cabbage dinner with music by The Black Velvet Band.

Being that it was still Lent, Dan also served a delicious fish dinner as an alternative. You don't want to make Catholics too guilty during Lent, right?

THE TEMPTATIONS ARE BACK IN BOSTON

I was once a drummer in a band that went by the name "The SilentSirs," and we played both classic rock and R&B. How could we not love Motown, South Philly, and the Godfather of Soul James Brown?

In 1965, when our band started, the Temptations had one of the biggest hits, "My Girl." This song still brings back so many great memories and the good times we had playing music and dancing on the dance floor. Last time I heard this band, I ended up chatting with Dennis Edwards on Hanover Street after the group performed on stage for one of those summer feasts.

I have seen the Temptations countless times going back to the '60s, but right now in Boston, there is a great musical playing at the Citizens Bank Opera House (oh, how I hate corporate names on venues), about the life and times of the Temptations. Ain't Too Proud will be playing until May 1st, telling the story of this famous Detroit-born iconic band.

SOMETHING YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

While having a little breakfast last week over at Caffe dello Sport on Hanover Street, I sat next to a nice young couple who it turns out are in Boston from Palermo in Sicily. I told them my grandparents came to the North End at the turn of the 20th century to improve their lives in America and to raise a family.

They actually gave me news about Sicily's history I did not know, and said that Sicilian is no longer a dialect of Italian, but today Sicilian is recognized as its own language with its own rules and structure. It is a separate language of its own. As a second generation Sicilian American, I liked hearing that news. Nothing against Italians but I love my Sicilian roots.
