Anywhere USA

MVD/Cinevolve Studios, 107 minutes, not rated, $24.95

Amateur film has three segments that are subtly related; a woman beats her redneck husband senseless once a week; an eight-year-old girl wonders if the normal guy next door is someone special; a rich man has an epiphany at the dinner table that has unforeseen consequences. Comedy is supposed to ensue. Steve Ramos of indieWIRE says that "High Art crashes into 'The Dukes of Hazard.'" Quentin Tarantino also endorses the film. No extras listed.
