

Hard Vision

Iggy Pop

"Live San Fran 1981"

(MVD)

by Paul Autry

There's nothing really special about this release and, believe it or not, that's what actually makes it special. This is a live concert performance...nothing more, nothing less...and it has the quality of a professional bootleg video. I mean, seriously, it looks like something I've recorded. Some of you are probably turned off by that description. It doesn't matter because I'm not writing this for you. There's people out there, such as myself, who have an honest love of music. That's why we can appreciate something like this. The fact of the matter is...they don't make 'em like this anymore. Oh, don't get me wrong. I love a good concert film. You know the kind I'm talking about...the kind that look like they spent a few million dollars to make. The kind that has more special features than you could shake a stick at. They're great. But, they're also a product and, for the most part, you're not getting an honest look at the artist in question. With this release, you're get to see Iggy Pop as he was back then. It's raw and in your face, the way rock 'n' roll was meant to be. They don't pretty it up...at least they don't on this release...and that's why I enjoyed watching this. Hopefully, that's what you'll get out of it as well.

<http://www.iggypop.com>

<http://www.musicvideodistributors.com>

© 1998-2005 BallBusterHardMusic.com / Sinbad Productions.