DEVO-Live 1980- MVD

The really rad thing about a band like Devo is that even today they would be considered weird and way before their time let alone back in 1980 when this was filmed. When you think of Devo most everyone remembers them as the band that played "Whip It," but this DVD reminded me off how many songs I actually knew by them other then that one (Snowball, Mongoloid, etc...) and their version of The Rolling Stones "Satisfaction" is worth the price of admission. They have a stage presence unlike anyone else. They aren't incredibly energetic, but yet someone put you into a trance of sorts and you are just drawn into them. What a great band and I am so happy to add this DVD to my collection. As a little bonus you get the performance on CD as well so grab a flowerpot, put it on your head, and let the world hear Devo blasting from your car stereo. (JK)
