Win 'Bob Dylan - 1975-1982: Rolling Thunder' DVD!

Director & Producer Joel Gilbert ('Bob Dylan 1966 - World Tour The Home Movies,' 2003 and 'Bob Dylan World Tours 1966-1974 - Through the Camera of Barry Feinstein,' 2005) weaves the story of this monumental period of Dylans life and music through revealing insider portraits, exclusive photos, live concert video clips and TV footage from 1975-1981, and with visits to Rundown Studios, the Muscle Shoals Sound Studio, the Vineyard Church, and the Fox Warfield Theatre.

Dylan's greatest period of onstage live performances is covered in this DVD. The Never Ending tour is incredible and the 1966 world tour sublime, but Dylan was clearly at his artistic and physical peak from 1975-1981. The strength of his vocal performances alone would support this assertion. Not to mention the steely eyed gaze and theatrical pacing of the Rolling Thunder Revue, or the fervor and anguish of the gospel shows.

If you would like to win a copy of this great new DVD, just answer this easy question: This DVD contains some valuable subjects here: Jerry Wexler, Rob Stoner, Scarlet Riviera, Ramblin' Jack, Regina McCrary, and even the SF Chronicle writer who wrote the "Dylan's Gospel God-Awful" review ... but what was his name?!

Send us your answers and if you're correct you'll be in the running to win one of these wonderful new DVDs! Just send us an e:mail here before April 14th with your answer and the subject title 'DYLAN'S DVDS'' to: exclusivemagazine@flash.net
