WE ARE SCIENTISTS EMERGE AS INDIE'S NEW DARLINGS

We Are Scientists
With Love And Squalor
 Virgin Records

As cute as the kitty-cats which grace the cover of their latest release, We Are Scientists are the latest buzz in the indie-rock scene.

Their debut album With Love and Squalor aptly combines a sense of pop-punk while attacking the new-wave indie-pop culture. Following in the footsteps of bands like The Killers and Bloc Party, We Are Scientists remain tasteful in creating their own unique sense of style and rhythm.

The trio of college pals, after graduating from Pomona College in California, headed straight for the Big Apple for a change of scene. After months of getting small local gigs around town, the band was offered a deal from Virgin Records. From there their sounds were heard internationally, inevitably selling out their first headline tour. Their debut album is host to the hit song "Nobody Move, Nobody Get Hurt."

For über-infobeggars, there are three music videos that come with the CD, one of which was directed by Akiva Scahffer, who directed SNL's "Lazy Sunday."

NO DYLAN ON ROLLING THUNDER DVD RELEASE

Bob Dylan/Joel Gilbert

1975 - 1987: Rolling Thunder and the Gospel Years
 Music Video Distributors

You can't say they don't warn you. It says right on the DVD cover, "Contains no Bob Dylan songs." They should have added, "Contains no point." The DVD is supposed to be about Dylan's Rolling Thunder Revue and Gospel Years, but it comes across more as a what-I-did-on-my-summer-vacation video from producer and director Joel Gilbert.

The equivalent of this would be a weird documentary on Mario Andretti that doesn't mention cars.
