

LITTLE WHITE LIES

//loudQUIETloud: A Film About The Pixies//

Directors – Steven Cantour & Matthew Galkin

Cast – Charles Thompson, Kim Deal, Joey Santiago,

Released – 6 November

"I was just trying to rip-off the Pixies" this one ubiquitous quote has appeared in every article about the Pixies since it was first uttered by Kurt Cobain in 1993. This one quote revitalized their album sales and brought them fame, respect and most importantly money. This one quote brought them sell-out crowds on their reunion tour in 2004 – the subject of //loudQUIETloud//. It's all here, the creative conflicts, the drugs, the booze, the rock and roll, but more than any other tour documentary this film de-mythologizes each band member completely. The group whilst mesmerizing on stage (captured beautifully by the directors), are distinctly average off stage – leaving you thinking, "they're just like me – hey maybe I could rip-off the Pixies too."
