

Radiohead's Secret Influences, From Fleetwood Mac to Thomas Pynchon

The music, books and documentaries the band highlighted as past and present inspirations during Rolling Stone's cover interviews

Posted Jan 24, 2008 1:36 PM

Pixies Documentary *loudQUIETloud

"I'll tell you if anyone wants to understand what it's like to be in a band, is this Pixie's documentary that Jonny brought in that we watched. That's what it's like, a group of people working in a close proximity for fifteen years together and going through a lot of emotion and stuff and essentially being people and coming out from the experience not to get too damaged from it and I thought that was very very very good. Really tender and accurate and I know some universal truths about it and not just about the Pixies."

— Colin Greenwood