

Second season of the HBO series Game of Thrones has kings from across the fictional continent of Westeros scheming and vying for the Iron Throne. There's too much detail to really tell you what this series is about, if you don't know already. Fortunately, my colleague Chuck Blount reviewed this one for us. DVD extras: episode commentary, featurettes. BD extras: animated short, Easter eggs, interactive guide.

Hats Off to Dr Seuss: Collector's Edition

Warner Bros., 110 minutes, not rated, 5 episodes

DVD: $44.98

BD: $59.99

Box set featuring "The Cat in the Hat," "Green Eggs and Ham and Other Stories," "The Lorax," "How the Grinch Stole Christmas" and "Horton Hears A Who!" Also adds a "Cat in the Hat Sing Along," documentary "In Search of Dr. Seuss," featurettes on "The Lorax" and "The Grinch," four more animated shorts, four interactive puzzles, booklet, more. It's my observation that there is no one who gets his name misspelled more often than Dr. Seuss. Usually, I see the spelling "Suess."

I'm Now: The Story Of Mudhoney

King of Hearts Productions, 102 minutes, not rated, $14.95

Documentary tells the story of Mudhoney from their beginnings to their recent world tour. Includes interviews with Pearl Jam's Stone Gossard & Jeff Ament, Sonic Youth's Thurston Moore & Kim Gordon, Soundgarden's Kim Thayil, and Mudhoney themselves. Sorry, this is another one of those bands I've never heard of.

Lake Placid: The Final Chapter

Sony, 86 minutes, not rated, $22.99

The promised "final installment" in the franchise has a high school swim team inadvertently straying onto the nature preserve where the monster crocs have been secretly stowed away by the government. Complicating matters is a showdown between a rogue game warden (Yancy Butler) and a demented poacher (Robert Englund), which makes it harder to avoid being eaten. No extras listed.

Missions That Changed the War: Doolittle Raid

Acorn Media, 176 minutes, not rated, 4 episodes, 2 discs, $49.99

Gary Sinise narrates this WWII documentary series entry about the Doolittle raid, which loaded B-25 bombers on an aircraft carrier and sailed for Japan, bombed a few cities and escaped to China. It was a feel-good mission when compared to the rest of the war, but it was important for the U.S. to strike back at the Japanese after the attack on Pearl Harbor and the ongoing losses in the Pacific. For more information, dig up the old book "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo." DVD extras: Q&A session, viewer's guide.

The Nest

Shout! Factory, 89 minutes, R

BD/DVD: $26.99

North Port Sheriff Tarbell (Franc Luz) and Mayor Johnson (Robert Lansing) find that genetic experiments on cockroaches being conducted by the INTEC Corporation are the reason their town is infested with cockroaches. When Dr. Hubbard (Terri Treas) from INTEC arrives, she realizes that an experiment has gone terribly wrong: the cockroaches have developed a taste for human blood. And to make matters worse, they are mutating into whatever they eat. DVD extras: commentary.

The Package

Anchor Bay, 95 minutes, R

DVD: $26.98

BD: $29.99

Steve "Stone Cold" Austin is combat veteran Tommy Wick, a nightclub bouncer and enforcer for a Seattle mob boss. Lundgren is 'The German,' an international crime lord and hardcore killing machine. Wick is asked to courier a mysterious package to The German when he finds himself hunted by relentless teams of hit men, mercenaries, assassins and sadists led by rival gang leader Anthony (Michael Daingerfield). No extras listed. Robert Kolarik reviewed this one, too.
