

Feedback

Props

Thursday
Oct102013

Eyes Of The Woods

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 10, 2013 AT 12:15AM

yes of the Woods is a movie about a guy, several hundred years ago, that sold his soul to the devil, to avenge his daughter's death. Little does he know that the deal he made, was not what he was expecting, because he turns into a flesh eating zombie. Long story short (fast forward to present day), some twenty something's stumble across his burial ground, and then all hell breaks loose. Not a bad premise, but it requires, back up, to make it work.

Unfortunately, three things contributed to the demise of this piece of crap of a movie. STRIKE 1: The acting is horrible. Some of the worst that I have seen, in some time. STRIKE 2: The sound is so low, on the DVD, that you have to turn it up to 11, just to hear the damn thing.

STRIKE 3: The movie is just plain, ass boring. Yeah, there is some gore, and a few cool special effects, but that that wasn't enough.

Bottom Line: Horrible! It is pretty bad when you watch a full movie, and realize that the only thing worth watching, was within the first few minutes of the film.

Creepy scene with little girl was cool.

-Ragman thinks this one should stay in the woods, and be buried deep.