

Sebastian

SHAKESPEARE

diary@dailymail.co.uk
Follow me on Twitter
@sebshakespeare

Oh you pretty things:
Angie and David Bowie

Bowie's ex-wife Angie relives golden years

DAVID Bowie's ex-wife Angie may be 67, but she seems determined to dress like a rebellious teenager.

The former model and actress was married to the musician for ten years until 1980, and had a son, film director Duncan Jones, with him.

She startled guests at a screening this week of Beside Bowie: The Mick Ronson Story, about the guitarist who was in his band in the singer's Ziggy Stardust heyday. The one-time Celebrity Big Brother contestant, who has been in a relationship with engineer Michael Gasset since 1993, sported a thigh-length black dress with a sparkly gold shawl, accessorised with a gold handbag, gold jewellery and shoes.

Last year she revealed she had not seen her son Duncan — born Zowie — for 30 years. Asked why she did not contest custody, she said: 'I had Zowie for David.'

