DAKOTA Johnson and Jamie Dornan star in “Fifty Shades Freed,” the concluding film adaptation of the best-selling E.L. James book trilogy that captivated the world. The DVD from Universal Pictures Home Entertainment is $34.98 and includes never-before-seen bonus content with behind-the-scenes features, deleted scenes and more.

“SAVANNAH Smiles” is a crazy comedy of errors as a precocious six-year-old girl runs away from home and sneaks into a car driven by two escaped convicts. A collector’s edition of the family film is available on DVD for $34.95 from MVD Entertainment Group.

SEASON eight of the critically acclaimed series “Shameless” is now available on DVD for $29.98 from Warner Bros. Home Entertainment. Starring William H. Macy and Emmy Rossum, the story of the Gallagher clan continues to delight viewers with its endearing characters and captivating storylines.

FAMILY box-office hit “Peter Rabbit” is a charming contemporary feature film adaptation of Beatrix Potter’s beloved children’s series featuring the mischievous Peter and his sisters Flopsy, Mopsy and Cotton-tail. The DVD is available for $30.99 from Sony Pictures Home Entertainment.

“THE Family Gathering,” by Robyn Carr, is a moving tale about the power of love, familial bonds and finding a safe and loving place to call home. This latest installment in Carr’s fan-favorite Sullivan’s Crossing series is published by Mira Books for $26.99.

NEVER EAT THIS PEPPER!

Mega-hot Carolina Reaper nearly did in competitive eater

A DETROIT man gobbled down “the hottest pepper in the world” — and ended up in the emergency room with one sizzling headache.

The 34-year-old dietary daredevil was a contestant in a hot pepper-eating contest when he chomped into a Carolina Reaper — which according to Guinness has a heat level of about 1.5 million Scoville units (compared to a tongue-torching jalapeño, which measures just 5,000 units!).

Things went bad right away: The guy got the dry heaves. Then he suffered intense pain in his neck and at the back of his head. But that was just the beginning: Over the next few days, he had several brief but excruciating attacks known as “thunderclap headaches,” which strike suddenly and peak in about 60 seconds.

ER docs did a CT scan, which revealed that several of the man’s brain arteries had narrowed, causing the headaches.

Luckily, the arteries got back to normal within a few weeks. The headaches stopped along with — we can only hope — his love of the punishing peppers.
