WHISKY GALORE! & THE MAGGIE (Blu-ray)

Ealing Studios' output from the 1940s and 1950s helped define what was arguably the golden age of British cinema, and featured the emergence of talented directors as Alexander Mackendrick. Film Movement Classics celebrates the iconic director with this special double bill featuring two of his unforgettable comedies — Whisky Galore! & The Maggie. Shot entirely on location, Mackendrick's 1949 directorial debut Whisky Galore! was inspired by a true story. In 1943 the tiny Hebridean island of Today is in the depths of despair. Spirits are low and Today is without whisky. When a freighter runs aground with 50,000 cases of whisky, a battle ensues between the Home Guard commander and the islanders. The Maggie is one of the fifty-odd puffer boats, which chug among the Western Isle of Scotland. Destined for the scrap yard, her skipper MacTaggart concocts a scheme to save her ... for Maggie to transport the valuable cargo of a wealthy American industrialist.

AFTER SPENDING $500 MILLION, BLOOMBERG CAN'T EVEN WIN MEDFORD

After spending $500 million, billionaire Michael Bloomberg, only won American Samoa on Super Tuesday and lost his own city of Medford. I guess the old saying is correct, "You can't go home again." Even Hollywood legend Michael Douglas brought in to gin up the crowd for Bloomberg's Medford Campaign HQs couldn't help him.

VIRGIL OFF AND RUNNING AGAIN

Looks like Virgil Aiello is thinking about running for Congress again. He called me last week with this news. He is really serious about pulling papers for a Congress seat. When I asked him which district, he played coy with me. Most likely I see him running in District 7 against Ayanna Pressley but you never know, right? When I know more, you'll know more. Stay tuned.

BACK OVER IN EAST BOSTON

East Boston High School recently was jammed packed with residents at a public hearing over the Eversource Substation down by the City Yards hoping to stop it from moving forward. Many are rightly worried about this high-voltage substation built on a flood zone. They are demanding more answers to their questions and want the process to be reopened. More on this in next week's issue.

OVER THERE, OVER THERE THE YANKS AREN'T COMING BUT THEY HAVE REALLY INEXPENSIVE GAS PRICES

Over on the other side of Boston, gas prices are so much cheaper than over on this side of the world. Near Roslindale Square at the ALFA Gas Station the pump price is $2.25. Heading down toward Forest Hills Station, the price at the Emporium Gas Station is $2.29. Down in Jamaica Plain near Green Street, Hat-Offs is back then to $2.25, too. I still ask, what gives?

GREAT ITALIAN EATERY IN QUINCY

I recently found a new to me diner on Washington Street in Quincy Center next to the Quincy main branch library. The place is called Cucina Mia and they call me Sal in there, too.

CONGRATS TO TINO

Tino Capobianco born in Eastie, living next door in Winthrop, was recently re-elected as Democrat State

Committeeman for his Senate district. He had a great day at a flood zone. They are demanding more answers to their questions and want the process to be reopened. More on this in next week's issue.

ORANGE LINE OFF THE RAILS AGAIN

I keep hearing about all those new Orange Line trains the MBTA has purchased, but it seems every time I turn around, something with them doesn't work right. It happened again when an uncommon sound was heard when the train was going around bends. Sounds important to me since we are paying big bucks for them! We ordered these new trains from a Chinese manufacturer and they are being built locally in Springfield, MA. Time to start speaking up because if we don't, we can rename the Orange Line into something like the Yellow Line since these new cars keep looking like lemons.

THE SOUL TRAIN IS HEADING TO DORCHESTER
