In the quick hits update department:

Former Guns N' Roser Duff McKagan has officially joined Jane's Addiction in the studio. Arctic Monkeys are fueling up on banana smoothies (that was terrible) so they can head straight into the studio to record a new album when their US tour ends next month. Mötley Crüe guitarist Mick Mars twitted from his home studio that he's also working on an album, his first as a solo artist.

And the greatest songwriting team of all time...together again...right here. First, a trailer from the upcoming "Rare and Unseen" John Lennon DVD (out May 18) featuring rare footage, unseen film and videos of The Beatles and the John Lennon/Plastic Ono Band, newsreels, photos and other archival gems from private collections.

And since both Lennon and McCartney were at their best when they were side by side, we decided to go with this live version of "I'm Looking Through You," shot during the kick-off show of Paul's new tour this past Sunday. This was apparently the first time Sir Paul has performed this song live and no matter how many times you hear that keyboard hook, it just never gets old.
