

<http://www.moviecitynews.com/reviews/DVD/2010/100713.html>

Inbred Redneck Vampires

Sometimes, a title is clever enough to attract viewers to a particularly bad movie. Inbred Redneck Vampires qualifies as a candidate for consideration by the producers of MST3K, if only for its setting: a white-trash town called Backwash, in the days before its annual Tripe Days Festival. Vampires seek refuge among these demented souls and nourishment from their obese bodies. Of course, they're idiots. Rumor has it that several of the actors were local volunteers who sought free beer in lieu of money. – Gary Dretzka