

<http://www.criticaloutcast.com/2010/07/dvd-pick-of-week-ip-man.html>

Night of the Living Dead: Reanimated. I saw this on the big screen a few months ago and while I did not like the entire thing, it certainly is a fascinating project. They started with the original audio track and then handed it over to hundreds of animators and artists who proceeded to render the film in art. The art was then compiled into this feature creation. Well worth spending some time with.

- Christopher Beaumont