

FISIR FILMSCHOOLREJECTS

<http://www.filmschoolrejects.com/features/this-week-in-dvd-august-24th.php>

Night Of the Living Dead: Reanimated

Pitch: They're coming to get you Barbie...

Why Rent? A hundred or so artists and animators were asked to pick a scene from George Romero's classic film and recreate it in their chosen art form. These snippets were then edited together to form a complete version of the film. This is just a cool idea from concept to execution, and it's worth a watch for fans of Romero's film as well as folks who just enjoy unfettered creativity. The art styles include still drawings, paintings, cartoons, stop motion, Barbie dolls, and more. Some of it is fun, some is creepy, but it's all creatively entertaining.

Extra Features? Commentaries, featurettes, additional and extended animations, horror comics, and the DVD itself is apparently a "functioning phenakistoscope"

