The folks at MVD Visual will unveil a new DVD called I Need That Record: The Death (or Possible Survival) of the Independent Record Store this Saturday, to coincide with Record Store Day. The film seeks to find out why more than 3,000 independent record retailers have gone out of business in the past decade. It was directed by BRENDAN TOLLER and features commentary from SONIC YOUTH leader THURSTON MOORE, producer and PATTI SMITH GROUP guitarist LENNY KAYE, CHRIS FRANTZ of TALKING HEADS, DRIVE-BY TRUCKERS frontman PATTERSON HOOD and many others. I Need That Record will be available exclusively at independent record stores for 90 days, after which you'll be able to find it everywhere. The DVD will set you back just under 15 dollars.
