"Delerium: Epiphany"—a concert video

Delerium – Epiphany

A Concert Video

Amos Lassen

Delerium has evolved and is now part of the pop electronic and trance ambient genre of music. I had not heard much of Delerium before I saw this video but I suppose I am a fan now. Delerium combines sacred and world music with Electropop to give us a unique blend of sounds. Watching them is a musical feast and seeing this concert (or clips from concerts) makes just listening pale in comparison. Lea Nash and Kristy Thirsk are beautiful girls with beautiful voices and the band is glorious.

The DVD was filmed live at concerts in Washington D.C., Atlanta, West Palm Beach and Montreal. Listening and watching is an experience that should not be missed. The songs highlighted here are "Angelicus", "Love", "After All", "Terra Firma". "Innocente", "Self Saboteur", "The Way You Want it to Be", "Twilight", "Flowers Become Screens", "Silence", "Incantation" and "Forgotten Worlds". The title of the disc is perfect as watching Delerium is an epiphany. The ambience and the beat are mesmerizing.

"Delerium: Epiphany"—a concert video ...
