For years, we've heard the infamous "Paul is dead" hoax -- how Paul McCartney was killed in a car accident and replaced by a double. There have been countless "clues" on album covers and in songs. And amazingly, some people actually believe this stuff. Well, here's another addition to the "Paul Is Dead" library. A new DVD to be released Sept. 1, "Paul McCartney Really Is Dead: The Last Testament of George Harrison," will give it a different angle -- the whole tale corroborated by a voice that resembles George Harrison.

"In the summer of 2005, a package arrived at the Hollywood offices of his company Highway 61 Entertainment from London with no return address. Inside were two mini-cassette audio tapes dated Dec. 30, 1999, and labeled "The Last Testament of George Harrison," the story about the DVD by producer Joel Gilbert claims.

A voice that Gilbert calls identical to Harrison's says on the tape that Paul McCartney was killed in a car crash in November of 1966 and replaced with a double. The "Harrison" voice supposedly goes through the "details" of what really happened. Gilbert claims that Highway 61 has "corroborated" the story with "new" evidence. As Robert Ripley used to say, believe it or not.

Are you sure you're not confusing this with "Stig Has Been Dead for Ages, Honestly"?

It's not even a good Bad imitation of George's voice, but read the blurb, which says "A voice identical to Harrison" which is their legal out because they are not saying it's George.

Yep, I second that emotion, "Not a BIT like Cagney".

Wonder if the Harrison estate can sue for this tripe.

DVD brings new twist to 'Paul is dead' ...

Cary 7 months ago

Any self-respecting Beatle fan would know the voice of George Harrison, and this is NOT his voice. Period. Geesh! Doubt they'll even come close to covering the production costs with the few (if any) of these they sell.
