DVD Review: Paul McCartney Really Is Dead – The Last Testament Of George Harrison

I am a big fan of ‘Urban Legends’, and without doubt this is one of the best. For an urban legend to work there has to be elements of truth that can be manipulated into a cohesive story

Without doubt this is my favorite it even beats the story about slapping a couple of JATO rockets on the top of your car and ending up 200 feet up a cliff face. Oh, and there is not much left of the car or driver after the accident site is found. On a scale of 1 to 10 as to the truthfulness of the story, it scores about minus several million. But it still is a great story.

In Paul McCartney Really Is Dead we have a similar situation. But! Just because something is completely illogical, it does not mean that it is not entertaining.

The precept is that in 2005 Highway 81 (a Hollywood production company) received an unsolicited package. Inside the package was a personal voice recorder and two micro cassettes. The author (so we are told) was George Harrison.

In this ‘tell all’ DVD we discover that the real Paul McCartney died in a car accident in the 60’s. Rather than fess this up, they brought in a replacement. Some plastic surgery, a little bit of voice training, voila, a new Paul McCartney.

I have to admit that while I think this DVD is a pile of doggy doo in the reality aspect, it it just too much fun not to watch.

We have MI5, an officer by the name of Maxwell, that hounded the band. These tapes also prove that the cover art used on the Beatles albums give clues to Paul McCartney’s death. If we need further proof of this dreadful situation, the producers of the DVD play small excerpts in reverse. These indeed prove that Paul McCartney was dead!

William Campbell, with the help of the MI5 became the new Paul McCartney.

If you are a Beatles fan, this is one DVD that you will not want to miss. I don't believe one word of it, but it is an entertaining story.

Grab a copy of this DVD, it is a must have! You can order your copy from Amazon.

I would write more, but I have Elvis on line one, and some guy claiming that he is from Area 51 at the door, so I have to close.

Can I just say what a relief to find someone who actually knows what theyre talking about on the internet. You definitely know how to bring an issue to light and make it important. More people need to read this and understand this side of the story. I cant believe youre not more popular because you definitely have the gift.

Aw, this was a really quality post. In theory I'd like to write like this too – taking time and real effort to make a good article... but what can I say... I procrastinate alot and never seem to get something done.

!! This information is really good and I will say will always be helpful if we try it risk free, So if you can back it up ? That will really help us all. And this might bring some good repute to you. The diet of human beings prior to the arrival of agriculture, technology and civilization is known as the Paleolithic Diet ? This Stone Age diet, in short, consisted of mainly lean red meat and vegetables. In this type of diet animal meat is consumed in large quantities and 45 to 65% of the energy needed by the body is derived from it. Over and over again, life expectancy studies related to diet, including by the World Health Organization (WHO), have concluded that Americans and Europeans would do better to eat more like third world peoples as the options provided by their additional wealth have most often lead to poor nutritional choices. This is the same basis for the USDA based their popular food pyramid in 1992 ... Researchers at Harvard have only suggested perhaps tweaking the food pyramid by replacing some dairy products and red meat with more fruits, vegetables, and fish while also emphasizing the importance of improving the ratio of “good” to “bad” cholesterol... Plus, exercise not only makes weight loss much easier, but also lowers blood glucose levels, decreases blood pressure, improved circulation, and increases one’s metabolism. Good regular sleep patterns are also just as important. Diets based on USDA recommendations include DASH, American Diabetic Assoc, Weight Watchers, and Jenny Craig.. When children understand how important “real food” is and where the natural ingredients of our food come from, they will increase the general population’s appreciation for preserving our natural environment and limiting toxins and polluting processes in our world. We may even trend back to the time when people stepped outside their homes to interact with family and neighbors in home and community gardens and block-party barbeques!! Does anybody even remember how nice those days were?

It’s sad but it looks like Ricky Hatton’s final big fight has finished in a knockout he lost – to cocaine. Not so much the champ is dead as the chump is dead. A sorry day.
