"Assault of the Sasquatch" is not your grandpa's Bigfoot movie. When a merciless bear poacher is caught and arrested deep in the woods of a state park, he and his truck are taken to a neglected precinct in the heart of a dying city. What the authorities don't know is that the impounded truck holds a deadly cargo in the form of the legendary Sasquatch. Now, stuck in an unfamiliar world, the creature will let nothing and no one stop it from coming face-to-face with the unscrupulous man who ruthlessly ripped it from its environment. Taking an inventive and action packed approach, "Sasquatch Assault" breaths new and exciting life into the immortal legend of Bigfoot.

Quote from John Doolan (Screenwriter): "The concept sounds insanely over-the-top," he admits, "but I saw an opportunity to do something different in a Bigfoot movie. They're all pretty much the same thing: A group of people head out into the woods and get attacked by a half-human monster. What sets Assault of the Sasquatch apart is that, first of all, it takes place in a city. And second, the creature isn't just some bloodthirsty killing machine. We wanted it to have more humanlike qualities in addition to its animal instincts. The reason it attacks is because it's
