

Now with more Squirrel! facebook.com/flockedmedia

HOME ANNEX22 BOOKS EDITORIAL LOCAL MOVIE SHOWCASE MULTI MEDIA MUSIC NEWS VIDEO & GAMES

Tuesday November 2nd 2010

Search ...

DVD Review: AAAH! ZOMBIES!

The tag line is something to the effect of "Zombies are people too." This may give away the fact that this DVD being distributed through MVD Entertainment Group is going to maybe be a bit corny, but who's to say without watching it. In truth, it is a comedy and it is a horror flick, which makes it horribly funny! It has an interesting idea behind it though- seeing the zombie movie through the eyes of the zombies and just the terror of the people who didn't get zombie-fied.

So, in this movie there is some crazy doctor who is doing experiments on soldier, trying to create a super soldier, of course. But something goes wrong and instead he creates a super zombie who loves to eat brains. Doc changes a label on the zombie "juice" and a bio-hazard barrel falls off of a truck, not necessarily related, but either way this virus is released unto the world and starts a zombie uprising.

According to the jewel case this movie is a new breed, telling the story of the zombies from their side, though you do still get to see the "other" side too. What really stands out about the creativity with this film is the melding of black and white film with color. This begins when a group of four decide to eat some ice cream, which is glowing green on a black and white backdrop.

Matthew Davis, who plays Alaric Saltzman on the popular CW Vampire television show 'The Vampire Diaries' is one of the "confused" group of green glowing ice cream eating zombies. The other faces within this movie are fairly unfamiliar.

Anyway, when the group of four zombie-fied friends who ate the glowing green ice cream are seeing the world through their eyes the movie is in full color, but when the world is seeing them as the actual walking dead zombie freaks that they are then the movie reverts to black and white.

The group runs into a supposed military guy, who ends up being a janitor or something, who comes up with the idea that it is the enzymes in milk that have protected them from this spreading virus. So, like the dead who haunt a place because they don't realize they are dead, these zombies think they are fine and everyone else is infected. They also realize that people who are drunk stay normal too, like it neutralizes the toxins. This is because the zombies see humans (and hear humans) in fast forward, but drunks stay at a "normal" speed.

When these zombies start to fall about the military janitor decides that it is just the super soldier toxin streamlining them, not that they are actually the infected and are rotting away! What will happen next? Will more people turn into zombies and will this group finally find out that they are actually the infected? Maybe you should check out this B rated movie with an A for original concept for yourself!

Rating: 0.0/5 (0 votes cast)

Subscribe to this author's posts feed via RSS

0

Like

Related Tags: mvd, Yvonne M. Glasgow, zombies

Previous Topic: Top 10 Horror Films Of The Decade / 2000-2010

Next Topic: Rev Theory Ready To Serve Up 'Justice'

Leave a Comment

You must be logged in to post a comment.

Added: November 1st, 2010
Author: yvonne
Category: Horror, Movie
Showcase

Digg

Facebook

Delicious

StumbleUpon

Twitter

LinkedIn

Technorati

reddit

Mixx

Newsvine

More...

Top 10 Horror Films Of The Decade / 2000-2010

This was a very difficult list to put together since there is so much to choose from and so much that will get left [\[Read More\]](#)

DVD Review: Colin

Zombies are running amuck in movies everywhere, we just can't seem to get enough of them and they are everywhere. [\[Read More\]](#)

DVD Review: Bikini Bloodbath Christmas

The trilogy has come along that will have you wishing you had never heard of Bikini Bloodbath. Gore filled and whore [\[Read More\]](#)

Resident Evil: Afterlife 3D - Review

We come to the most successful video game based movie franchise in history, Resident Evil. Why is this series so [\[Read More\]](#)

Pages

Flocked Info

Flocked Staff

Flocked Videos

Archives

November 2010

October 2010

August 2010

August 2009

June 2009

March 2009

November 2005

Recent By Author

aaron (5)

amanda (6)

anna (15)

B. C. Field (12)

flocked (55)

james (1)

liam (1)

logan (3)

scott (3)

stefan (1)

yvonne (13)

Calendar

November 2010

M	T	W	T	F	S	S
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30

« Oct

Want to Contribute?

Flocked is always looking for additional writers and photographers.

We also welcome your comments and opinions on all that our site publishes.

Register Log in

Featured Box Wordpress Plugin developed by YD