

Friday, November 26, 2010

AAAH!!! ZOMBIES!!!

I saw this trailer a ways back, and I thought it looked kind of original and funny..... This of course proved to be partially false. It may still be funny, (It hasn't come out yet) but the premise is not original... I found a show on Fearnet HD called New Years Day. In which a girl wakes up in the middle of the zombie apocalypse.....is confused and running around looking for answers and loved ones! While the plot unfolds they keep jumping back and forth in time from earlier in the night to present time. The past shows how we get to the present of course. So to make a long story short the girl is one of the zombies all along and she thinks she is a normal person escaping to her boyfriends. He shoots her when she gets ther. HUH? It is more convoluted than that, but i am cutting it short to get to the meat of it. He shoots her, she is then shown to actually be a zombie the whole time we see her in the present part of the storyline. When she is revealed to actually be a zombie somehow she seems to understand the zombie gestures from the other zombie guy who was in love with her.....all in all it was made pretty badly, but the actual plot was pretty damned good. AAAHH!! Zombies!!! Is similar in the way the group of people are actually zombies but, they see themselves as normal but as hideous zombies to everyone else.....it actually looks quite amusing....I am waiting for a release....for now enjoy the trailer. <http://horror.break.com/aaah-zombies/aaah-zombies-new-zombie-comedy-trailer>

Posted by King Zombie at 5:27 AM

1 comments:

 Bossanova said...

It's available now at Amazon.com, Netflix, and on many VOD/PPV systems! Early next year it will be on iTunes too. Check it out for some zombie laughs... :)

November 29, 2010 1:53 PM

Post a Comment

About Me

Jason Taylor
Bronx, NY

My personal
Ramblings

View my c

Solar Energy

Helping Relieve
Though The Price
Solar Energy.

www.Solar-Air

Public Service .

The King Zombie

