SCARY MOVIES FOR

HALLOWEEN

Compiled by Dorothy Hernandez

Creep Creepersin's Frankenstein

An original take on Mary Shelley's classic story of what can go wrong when people take it upon themselves to play God and create life. But Creepersin's story gives the classic tale a new twist. The main character, Victor, is a recluse who does not fit into normal society. Victor spends all his time watching old movies with his only friend in the world—a rat he named Frankenstein. Victor spirals further into craziness until the television set begins talking to him, and his dead mother is visiting him. Finally, Victor decides that if he can't make any friends, he will just "make" his own friend. The kicker is that even this creation, which he gave life to, doesn't like him.

Peeping Blog

This is a deeply disturbing film about a peeping tom, and is done in the vein of acclaimed Halloween hit Paranormal Activity, with most of the action seen through the lens of a character's video camera. So, the film you're watching is actually footage shot by the stalker.

He is posting his videos on the web as a how-to for similarly deranged perverts. But he gets busted on one of his outings by his target's family member, and faced with the choice of kill or be arrested, that's when things get really wacky. Yes, the best word to describe this movie is, disturbing.
