

ROCK HARD (Germany)

- We've known for a long time that former-Watchtower/Dangerous Toys singer Jason McMaster has a versatile vocal range. However, the fact that he could deliver a metal performance as flawlessly as Ripper Owens, has me - despite of his last project Ignitor - surprised nevertheless. Jason truly never sounded more metal than on this insane 13-track debut cd, that should please Helstar/Vicious Rumors fans above all others. All songs are not absolute ear worms, but for a respect, it loosely earns an eight on the Richter Scale. Besides Jason, by the way, you can also hear former-Riot/S.A. Slayer bassist Don Van Stavern.
