IGGY & THE STOOGES, "Raw Power Live" (MVD Entertainment)

★★★★ — Still in great shape at age 64, rocker Iggy Pop and his Stooges bandmates show no signs of slowing down. In September 2010, the Stooges performed their 1973 classic "Raw Power" in its entirety at the All Tomorrow's Parties Festival. Through an online contest, Pop selected six fans to film the performance and interview the band backstage. The result is the "Raw Power Live" DVD.

The quality of the production is a little hit and miss, but the band sounds great and Pop is in all his shirtless glory. Highlights include renditions of the title track, "Search and Destroy," "Your Pretty Face Is Going to Hell" and "Penetration," and the Stooges also deliver blistering versions of non "Raw Power" favorites "Beyond the Law," "Open Up & Bleed" and "I Wanna Be Your Dog." Bonus features include interviews with the band and contest videos submitted by the fans. If you like the Stooges, this is the DVD for you. (JS)
