BUG OUT!

LEGENDS LAUNCH GLENFIDDICH MOJO HONOURS LIST! NEW VOICE COMPETITION REACHES CRUCIAL STAGE! PHEW!

MOJO is overjoyed to announce that iconic US alt rockers Dinosaur Jr will launch this year's Glenfiddich MOJO Honours List mayhem with an exclusive show at HMV's flagship store at London's Oxford Circus on June 30.

That's exclusive in every respect, except that you're all invited, and it's completely free. The action starts at 6pm, with support from Wolf People and a solo set by Villagers' Conor O'Brien.

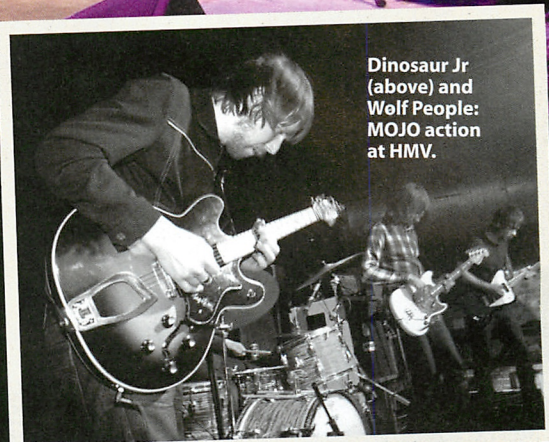

Since reforming in 2005, the scorching troika of J. Mascis, Lou Barlow and Murph have astonished all who dared doubt that their late-'80s vintage gnarl could have retained every ounce of its power, and have made two excellent albums – 2007's Beyond and '09's Farm – to further cement their legend. Miss them this time around and you might regret it forever. The night will also mark the unveiling of the shortlist of acts and records nominated in the MOJO Honours List's Votable Categories. That's Best Album (Presented by Ford Transit), Best Compilation, Best Live Act (Presented by Orange Amps), Breakthrough Act and Song Of The Year (Presented by Glenfiddich). Get to MOJO4music.com if you haven't already voted for what you think is the best music made in the past 12 months.

If you don't, you'll only have yourselves to blame when John Otway and Lady Gaga sweep the board. If you do, one thing's for certain: you'll go in the hat for a pair of tickets to the already-legendary ceremony/shindig at London's Brewery venue on July 21, where merit gongs include the Hall Of Fame Award (Presented by Glenfiddich) the Lifetime Achievement Award, the MOJO Classic Album, the MOJO Medal and the Les Paul Award (presented by Gibson Guitar). So expect a veritable galaxy of all-time greats.
