

ThanksKilling (2009) (MVD Visual)

Any movie that proudly boasts "Warning: Boobs in the First Second," claims to be "The Best Worst Movie Ever," and carries a quote saying "'Plucking Fantastic!' -Me" on a cover that looks like it was designed by a drunk graphics design dropout just has to be overcompensating. And in this case, it is. This intentionally-hokey horror comedy — which was obviously not influenced by a certain joke trailer Eli Roth made for Grindhouse — follows the exploits of a talking killer turkey. Made for a whopping $3,500, this attempt at creating a cult classic fails where movies that never set out to be campy in the first place succeeded. Sadly, a sequel is in the works.
Happy viewing, kids!
