

FISR FILMSCHOOLREJECTS

This Week In DVD: November 8th

Features By Rob Hunter on November 9, 2011 | 1 Comment

Thankskilling

Pitch: "Warning! Tits in the first second!" That cover claim is actually a lie. It takes 35 seconds...

Why Rent? The true story of the first Thanksgiving comes to light in this ultra low budget horror re-release about a murderous turkey prone to one-liners like "You just got stuffed!" Yes, it's pretty much as bad as you'd expect complete with laughable acting and effects. But, surprisingly, it manages its own brand of cheap charm. CGI blood mars some otherwise enjoyable gore, and some of the gags actually warrant a laugh including a riff on Leatherface that earns laughs for its absurdity and execution. Just don't go in expecting anything that resembles a professional film.

