NEW TRAILER FOR INDIE ZOMBIE FLICK BONG OF THE DEAD

E-mail | Add new comment

Enterprising filmmaker Thomas Newman has finally released the first trailer for his long-gestating indie Bong of the Dead. A teaser was released in 2009, with Newman keeping up a grassroots promotional campaign via his Twitter account, offering behind the scenes footage and post-production updates to whomever was paying attention.

Newman continue this trend in the latest trailer, which starts with his journey to make the movie with only $5,000. Put frankly, it doesn't look half bad.

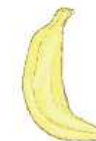

Synopsis: Edwin and Tommy are two stoner buddies who are lone survivors of a mass zombie outbreak caused by meteorites. One day they discover a great zombie fertilizer that helps grow super potent pot. The problem is since the government has cleared out many of the major cities, there are no longer any zombies where they live. In order for them to get more zombies for fertilizer, they must go on a road trip to the "Danger Zone" where they hope to find and gather as many zombies as possible for their brains.

Bong of the Dead currently has no distribution, but we at HugAZombie wish Newman luck with it.
