

Last week saw an interesting and eclectic selection of DVD's enter my domain. This is just a small taste.

Let me start by asking a question. What do Ringo Starr (yes that one), Dustin Hoffman and Harry Nilsson have in common?

The answer is that at first sight not very much. The story goes all the way back to 1971, yup 40 years ago! This unlikely trio joined forces on an animation project The Point. Harry Nilsson is probably best well known for the 1972 smash hit Without You.

The Point went out of 'print' for many years, but it is back. Ringo is the narrator, and Dustin Hoffman is the voice behind one of the characters. This is a delightful children's DVD and one that is bound to entertain the third or fourth generation since the original release. More information can be found here. I did some digging around, and found this delightful video of the first part of The Point.
