

<http://progsheet1.hypermart.net/DVDBOOKReviews.html>

The Point (MVD)

I have such vivid memories of watching this film on ABC back in 1971. Simple but effective animation by Fred Wolf. Narration by Ringo Starr. Then there were those warm, beautiful songs by Harry Nilsson, highlighted by the unforgettable Me And My Arrow.

The story tells the tale of Oblio, a round headed boy in a kingdom where everyone has a pointed head. Oblio and his dog Arrow are banished to the Pointless Forest for not having a point. Oblio goes through a series of transformative adventures before...well, I won't give it all away. It's a tale about love, learning, tolerance, bias, and much more. A deceptively simple story with much under the surface.

This DVD looks very nice. The transfer is crisp and clean. The disc also includes 4 bonus featurettes to boot. 41 years later, The Point stands tall. Adults will love this every bit as much as a new generation of kids. Remember - you don't have to have a point to have a point!