

NOW with Alex Wagner | Aired on September 17, 2012

What NOW?!: Why some anti-Obama ads aren't a joking matter

Sunday's New York Post featured a full page ad that claims President Barack Obama's father is actually labor activist Frank Marshall Davis and it served as a promotion for the DVD, "Dreams from my Real Father." The ad was also released one day before a new anti-Obama documentary hit number five on the list of highest grossing documentaries of all time. The NOW w/ Alex Wagner panel discusses.

Share This:

Related videos

Transcript of this video

Politics

What was the point of Romney's emergency presser?

Morning Joe
Aired September 18, 2012

Why Romney comments are 'politically damaging, factually wrong and cynical'

Morning Joe
Aired September 18, 2012

Brzezinski: I'd like to hear Romney comment on Afghanistan

Morning Joe
Aired September 18, 2012

Trump's RNC video unveiled as Romney retools

TODAY
Aired September 18, 2012