What do you get when you stick four porn stars into a jam space and have famed porn star Bree Olson manage them? You get the rock band Tight. Now they have been in the headlines with their win in Howard Stern's XXX Factor competition and the DVD they made filming their touring is currently available and was released this past September. The press release describes it: "Award-winning mockumentary follows the world's only all-girl porn star rock band as they attempt to put their wicked pasts behind them and make it in the music biz."

The New York Post hails Tight as the best mockumentary since Spinal Tap and when you get a quick glance at the official trailer you can't help but be intrigued. (For any people too young to know what Spinal Tap is, please use your favorite search engine to find out and enjoy the hilarity that ensues.) The main question that music junkies and journalists all want to know, what does the music sound like? The original lineup was comprised of Layla Labelle, Monica Mayhem, Tuesday Cross, Alicia Andrews and...Monica Mayhem apparently had a major meltdown and was replaced with porn star Kelley Jean, which in a professional opinion, was the best move that manger Bree Olson made. To hear the single and make up your own minds the link is here and it's free!

When Bree Olson was asked about the greatest challenge to Tight as a band concept "The biggest challenge a porn star band faces is being taken seriously. These are very talented musicians but not everyone is willing to give them a chance." This is a challenge faced by most bands but when the history of the members comes into question everyone wants to know if this is more than a one trick pony.

So without further waiting here is the interview that Kelley Jean so graciously accorded me. I think you will be happy to read her answers!

Bertrand Klein: I guess my first question would be is how hard has it been for people to take you seriously as a real band?

Kelley Jean: Not very seriously! Its only a matter of time before they are proved wrong, though!

BK: Tell me about your music career before becoming the vocalist for Tight.

KJ: I released my own dance/techno music CD a few years ago called Technosexual. My MP3's can now be downloaded for free at www.soundclick.com/popstar. I have jammed in many bands just for fun. But this is the first all girl porn star band that I have ever been in, and that's so exciting!

BK: Tuesday Cross seems to have a tongue like Gene Simmons. Has this ever been commented on before?

KJ: Well I sure as hell noticed! It's one talented tongue!

BK: How has it been being managed by Bree Olson?

KJ: Bree is awesome. She is sexy and sweet and down to earth but still a party girl at heart.

BK: Which is dirtier – the music industry or the porn industry?

KJ: The music industry to be honest! In the porn industry, you know exactly what you are getting into at any given time. In the music industry it's all a guessing game and the story unfolds as it happens.

BK: How has the sound changed since you replaced Monica Mayhem? Personally it sounds like you're a better fit and not "pitchy" like she was.

KJ: Yes, I rock! I will rock your socks off, maybe even your pants off! I do not have a "pitchy" voice at all. I am right on point, so much that a lot of people have accused me of lip-synching! I have never ever done that before.

BK: So seeing as this is a "mockumentary" would you consider doing this as a full time gig? Or is the porn world a better and more fulfilling place?

KJ: I have been retired from porn for a few years now and would like to make the band a full time thing. Music is my life! Doing adult films was fun but can't give you "the chills" like performing music can.

BK: Which girl bands were you guys into? I'm talking Kittie, Arch Enemy, The Gathering. Were you inspired by all girl bands like The Runaways, Lita Ford, Girlschool?

KJ: I love Kittie, Gates of Babylon (my friend Sarah's band,) The Runaways, but I am most inspired by The Donnas when it comes to our kind of rock and roll music. They are a lot of fun to listen to and party to.

(Rock en Seine, Heavy Mtl, Hell fest, Hammerfest, Wacken, Mayhem Deathfest, and the Maryland Deathfest) or is this a one time thing in terms of touring?

KJ: I sure hope so. I am so down for any performances or any challenges!

BK: Which metal bands can we find in your CD collection or on your iPod playlist? What surprising music will we also find there?

KJ: Metallica, System of a Down, Slipknot, Korn. You might be surprised that I am really into old school B-Boy music, like the Beastie Boys, Afrika Bambaataa, The Black Sheep, Fugees, etc.

BK: Have you been in previous bands before forming this one?

KJ: No, this is my first band. I have sang and danced in a burlesque troupe and have done a ton of solo dance music shows before this. I also got to sing the National Anthem for Charlie Sheen when he toured with his show. His first show was here in Detroit, CNN News reported on their website that the National Anthem was the best part of the show!

BK: From the interviews I've seen there seems to have been issues with Monica Mayhem from the get-go. Is this assumption correct? Your website notes that Monica said she will kill Tuesday and Layla if she ever sees them again! That's some serious shit to say.

KJ: Thank God she is back in Australia and can't be here to actually kill anyone, aye?!

BK: Are any of you trained musicians that can read sheet music?

KJ: Layla Labelle is classically trained on guitar. I do not read sheet music but I've had vocal lessons on and off my entire life.

BK: Layla seems to be the one that has had the most shocking porn scenes. Who would come in second?

KJ: Monica has had the longest porn career so I am going to assume that it is her.

BK: Have your fans been more men or women? Are the fans there because of your porn careers or your music?

KJ: Mostly men. Because the women either hate us, or want to bang us. But all of the men seem to like the music AND want to bang us!

BK: What was the worst argument Bree had to break up?

KJ: Layla was by far the most picked on, so you should really ask her that question.

BK: Do you see yourselves continuing on with this project or diverging into something else?

KJ: I can see myself being 100% involved in this project, but it all depends on how the other girls feel and how it will all work out in the long run for everybody.

BK: If you could work with any musician past or present who would it be and why?

KJ: Madonna. I admire everything about her and always have.

BK: Who is someone you would like to tour or work with?

KJ: I think it would be cool to do a project with Phil Varone because he is the ex-drummer for Skid Row and Saigon Kick and he is also a porn star. I met him in Las Vegas and he is one cool dude.

BK: Here are two final questions I usually ask as the shocker questions, but seeing as you guys are in the industry I think this will be just as interesting. What is your take on porn and the porn industry?

KJ: When I was in the porn industry about eight years ago, you had your big "stars" such as Jenna Jameson and Jill Kelly. Porn was very glamorous at the time. You made triple money compared to what you are offered now. Amateur porn took over in recent years and the glamor has really fizzled out of everything. The quality of video is better, the pay is much lower. Anyone these days can become a "porn star". I hate to talk down on it, because frankly I had a riot. I met nothing but wonderful people and had a blast. But I think I got out of it at a good time. It sure isn't what it used to be anymore!

BK: What was the first porno movie you saw and do you remember what it was called and who starred in it?

KJ: I do not remember what it was or who was in it, but I do remember being in 8th grade and it was on VHS tape and it was hidden in my step-dad's closet!
