

The new Replacements documentary Color Me Obsessed is available to stream online for a limited time, courtesy of Noisy. Tune in below.

Directed by Gorman Bechard, the two-hour film chronicles the band's storied history as told by its rabid fan base. The film features over 140 interviews with musicians (Colin Meloy, Craig Finn, Tommy Ramone, Grant Hart, Patrick Stickles), journalists (Robert Christgau, Greg Kot, Jim DeRogatis), actors (Tom Arnold, Dave Foley, and George Wendt), and veteran fans.

A DVD version of the film contains 19 deleted scenes, three complete interviews (Grant Hart, Robert Christgau, Greg Kot & Jim DeRogatis), behind-the-scenes interviews with the director and producer, two commentaries, and four trailers. Order your copy here.

In related news, we're still waiting for the band's reunion EP, which was recorded to benefit their former bandmate Slim Dunlap, who suffered a stroke in February.
