

Artists | Issues | CD Reviews | Interviews | Concert Reviews | DVD/Video Reviews | Book Reviews | Who We Are | Staff | Home

Honky 421

Review by Eric Meli

Honky is trio from Austin, Texas who bill themselves as a psychedelic super boogie type band, but to me it seems that there are more elements to their sound than just that. 421 is Honky's newest release and is full of well crafted songs that keep me listening over and over again. In fact, I think I found my new favorite CD.

Return

Track by Track Review

WFO

The disc's opener is a full-on onslaught of guitar.

Just A Man

This one starts with an AC/DC kind of style and then changes to a bit of a psychedelic sound.

Riddle Cap

"Alluring" would be a good word to describe this song.

Erson

I kind of get an Alice Cooper vibe from this song.

Walton County

A cool song, there's almost a psychedelic quality to it.

4:21

The title track is a rocking instrumental with a great groove.

All For Nothin'

A slow hypnotic song, this drags me into its web.

Over Easy

Think ZZ Top at their dirtiest and you'll be close to the sound of this track.

Woke Up Dead

I could just picture a bluesman doing this track in a dirty old juke joint.

Handful Of Nails

There's a nice slice of Texas super boogie on this cut.

Black Joes's Bitch

It's a love song, well kind of anyway.

magellansongs.com

Google™

Web

www.musicstreetjournal.com

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution 3.0 United States License.

© 2012 Music Street Journal
Inc./Beetcafe.com

Site design and programming by Studio Fyra,