

Legendary Artists Shine on Via New Release

December 19, 2012 | Filed under: Design, Entertainment, Hollywood Stars, Music, Theater | Posted by: Desert Star Weekly

By Robert Kinsler

The Yardbirds and Peter Gabriel are the focus of new DVD releases, while one of The Beatles' earliest recording projects returns in a splendid stocking stuffer-minded package.

A special Nektar album features the progressive rock outfit joining forces with a who's who of classic rock talents.

Artist: The Yardbirds

Title: Making Tracks: On Tour 2010 – 2012 (Eagle Rock Entertainment)

You might be interested if you like: Led Zeppelin, Eric Clapton, Jeff Beck.

Tell me more: While Robert Johnson, Sonny Boy Williamson and other legendary artists championed blues in the early half of the 20th century, it wasn't until the 1960s when the British refurbished the musical form into their own electric brew. Before legendary outfits such as Ten Years After, Led Zeppelin and Cream found fame in the latter end of the decade it was the pioneering band The Yardbirds that proved to be the earliest proponent of the style. Not only did the band launch the careers of guitarists Eric Clapton, Jimmy Page and Jeff Beck, but created classic hits including "Train Kept Rollin," "For Your Love" and "Heartful of Soul." The newly-released two-DVD set "Making Tracks" captures the reunited Rock and Roll Hall of Fame band's 2010-2011 tour with a mix of 17 songs including the old hits and new stuff. There is also a full-length tour documentary and bonus features aplenty. Information: www.theyardbirds.com.

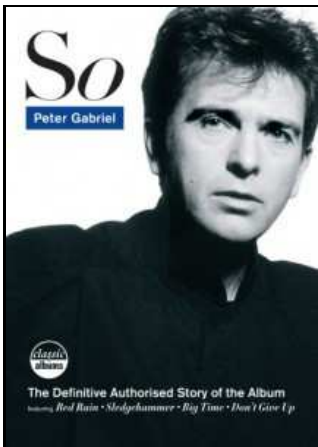

Artist: Peter Gabriel

Title: Classic Albums: So (Eagle Rock Entertainment)

You might be interested if you like: Peter Gabriel, Kate Bush, Daniel Lanois.

Tell me more: Few albums crafted in the 1980s remain as relevant and breathtaking as Peter Gabriel's "So." Featuring rock radio staples such as "Sledgehammer," "Big Time" and "Don't Give Up" (a duet with singer Kate Bush), "Red Rain" and "In Your Eyes," the groundbreaking album's history is fully recalled in the newly-issued documentary "Classic Albums: So" (available on DVD, Blu-ray and digital video). There is plenty of great footage blended with interviews from the key players involved in the making of the 1986 classic including Gabriel, co-producer Daniel Lanois, and musicians Jerry Marotta, Laurie Anderson and Tony Levin. Information:

www.eaglerockent.com.

TOP COMMENTS

Tom on Donald Trump...You're Fired!

Kay-L on 7Horse, Maia Sharp and The American Wake Thrill on New Releases

Chris on Disneyatures's 'Chimpanzee'

Food Now featured in Desert Star Weekly | Food Now on Food Now Feeds 550 Families Each Week

peggy vermeer on PATRICK BLYTHE – A Modern Reflection of Success

Russ & Andrea Hamfeldt on Five Fun Things To Do When It's 102°

Patricia Grandison on Bryan Fenkart – A Star on the Rise

Patricia Grandison on Bryan Fenkart – A Star on the Rise

Sophia on Malcolm Doran – The Picasso of Our Time

Patsy on Malcolm Doran – The Picasso of Our Time

Tina Marie Tavares on How Hormones Affect Your Weight

Patrick Blythe on The California Endowment for a Healthier Coachella

Patrick Blythe on Diane Morgan – Master of Watercolors and Oils

C. Bouldin on Occupy Coachella Valley

Dan Warnock on Warnock Fine Art Gallery – A Desert Original

Kari Beiter-Martin on Desert Water Expert Found Dead in Pool

Max on Kinslerscope

karthikeyan on CATS IN CRISIS – Shoot-to-Kill Tiger Poachers

Jean Lightle-Jackman on Desert Water Expert Found Dead in Pool

Jackie Martin on CATS IN CRISIS – The Feral Problem

Woodsmen on CATS IN CRISIS – The Feral Problem

Woodsmen on CATS IN CRISIS – The Feral Problem

Woodsmen on CATS IN CRISIS – The Feral Problem

www.greedoutofweed.org on Get The Greed Out Of Weed

Jackie Martin on CATS IN CRISIS – The Feral Problem