Yardbirds, The - Making Tracks DVD

2012 MVD Visual

You think of how impossible it is to get Led Zeppelin to stay together, it's certainly going to be impossible to get Beck, Page, and Clapton to return to the fold for this band, but that hasn't stopped both original members Chris Dreja & Jim McCarty from hooking up with Ben King, David Smale, & Andy Mitchell from continuing. Although the band that spawned three of the most revered British blues guitarists, the post Yardbirds career of Zeppelin, Cream, and solo endeavors, not to mention frontman Keith Relf's tragic and accidental death, really put the lid on things.

But in recent years, both Dreja & McCarty have pursued a whole contemporary Yardbirds lineup, as the flagship release of 2003's Birdland set wheels in motion - now we have Making Tracks: On Tour 2010-2012 which features a new lineup performing many of the classics ("For Your Love," "Heartfull of Soul," "Shapes of Things," and "Dazed and Confused" among many others), it's not hokey, but nothing would beat seeing the three original axemen out on stage together, but nevertheless, at least those involved put every effort into it. You also have interviews with various band members including shedding some light onto Zeppelins formation and all of that.
