"Black Lips - Kids Like You & Me"

(2013): In 2009, the band The Black Lips started investigating the possibility of a bridge-building tour of the Middle East with stops throughout the region. After two years of planning, several uprisings and a civil war, the tour finally came to fruition in the fall of 2012. This film documents their journey through the region with Lebanese indie rockers Lazy Lung. From MVD Visual.

- "Bronies: The Extremely Unexpected Adult Fans of My Little Pony" (2013): One would be hard-pressed to find a cultural sensation as unique and as unexpected as Bronies, a group of mostly young adult men who are dedicated fans of the animated series created for little girls, "My Little Pony: Friendship Is Magic." This documentary chronicles Bronies from around the world, each with their unique story, as they make their way to My Little Pony conventions in Germany, England, and the biggest of all, BronyCon in the U.S. On DVD and Blu-ray/DVD Combo from MVD Visual.
- "Buying Sex" (2013): Documentary looks at the red-hot debate over the legalization of prostitution. Would decriminalizing prostitution free sex workers to take more control over their activities, run legal brothels and manage their own procurement businesses without fear of punishment, or would it give male buyers and sex-trade business owners even more power and opportunity to benefit from and possibly exploit the sale of sexual services? This Canadian film brings sex workers, formerly prostituted women, policy-makers, lawyers and even the male buyers of sex to the debate, challenging viewers to question whether prostitution is the oldest profession or the oldest oppression. - "Far from Vietnam" (1967): Initiated and edited by Chris Marker, this is an epic 1967 collaboration between cinema greats Jean-Luc Godard, Joris Ivens, William Klein, Claude Lelouch and Alain Resnais in protest of American military involvement in Vietnam. The film brings together an array of contributions, none individually credited, under a unified editorial vision. The elements span documentary footage shot in North and South Vietnam and at anti-war demonstrations in the United States; a fictional vignette and a monologue that dramatize the self-interrogation of European intellectuals; interviews with Fidel Castro and Anne Morrison, widow of Norman Morrison, the Quaker pacifist who burned himself alive on the steps of the White House in 1965; reflections from French journalist Michele Ray; and a range of re-purposed media material. Passionately critical and self-critical, it's a milestone in political documentary and in world cinema. $29.98 from Icarus Films.
- "Galactic Adventures: 3D Sun/Mars 3D" (2013): From Earth, the Sun can't be looked at with human eye. Narrated by AI Roker, "3D Sun" gives audiences a chance to see the Sun up close in startling 3D. "Mars 3D" takes viewers behind the scenes of the Mars Exploration Rover Mission revealing daily dramas, mind-boggling physics and compelling science behind the $820 million dollar NASA project. - "Good Ol' Freda" (2013): Fascinating documentary about The Beatles' longtime secretary and friend offers an insider's perspective as The Beatles made music and cultural history. Freda Kelly was just a shy Liverpool teenager when she was asked to work for a local band hoping to make it big. Though she had no concept of how far they would go, Freda had faith in The Beatles from the beginning, and The Beatles had faith in her. Many people came in and out of the band's circle as they grew to international stardom, but Freda remained a staple because of her unflinching loyalty and dedication. As The Beatles' devoted secretary and friend, Freda was there as history unfolded; she was witness to the evolution – advances and setbacks, breakthroughs and challenges – of the greatest band in history. On DVD and Blu-ray from Magnolia Home Entertainment.
- "Smash & Grab: The Story of the Pink Panthers" (2013): Their crimes play out like a Hollywood action movie: A sports car speeds through a Dubai shopping mall, crashing into the windows of a Graff jewelry store. Masked, gun-wielding men jump out of the car, and stuff fistfuls of diamonds into their satchels before screeching off. The high-octane, real world of international jewel thieves is revealed in this documentary on the formidable Balkan crime organization dubbed "The Pink Panthers" (so named after the police recovered a huge diamond in a tub
