

Except for its impossible-to-ignore title, ‘Sexquatch: The Legend of Blood Stool Creek’ is an imbecilic do-it-yourself movie about a group of teenagers who hope to spend a wild weekend getting laid, but, instead, are sexually abused by Sexquatch. If the filmmakers had more than $10 between them, they should have invested it in something more persuasive than an orangutan suit. Indeed, Sexquatch isn’t even the least attractive actor in the movie, in or out of costume. If I recall, a similar concept was exploited for one of the late-night spots on Cinemax. This one is much worse.
