

Here are some new and very interesting music releases for you to consider...

MVD Visual continues issuing work by DEVO, continuing with a double feature in DEVO: The Men Who Make The Music (1978) which combines their early music videos with live concert footage and Butch DEVO & The Sundance Gig (1988) on this new single DVD. The shows are fun and more of the history of one of America's greatest bands and one still far ahead of its time. The interaction with each other and when live, their audiences, shows a group serious about their music, fun and having something to say. Two members are sadly no longer with us, but their work and the music remains and fans should be happy with this double feature release.

A 1996 Sundance Film Festival show is included as an extra, making for a third program in all, but we get a few clips of other MVD/DEVO releases as well that we have reviewed elsewhere on this site.
