

Monday, February 17, 2014

RP Kahl's "Angel Express" Gets North American Release

Following the success of his Lola nominated erotic drama "BEDWAYS" (released in North America by Strand) German actor, director and provocateur RP Kahl's debut feature "ANGEL EXPRESS" has been given a North American street date of February 18th 2014, fifteen years after its completion.

The release of "ANGEL EXPRESS" continues the work of DVD label, Jinga Films who specialize in identifying important independent European film-makers and releasing their earlier films in North America.

Set in the newly reunified Berlin, "ANGEL EXPRESS" follows a top photographer, a hooker, a businessman and a novice gun-runner caught up in a whirlpool of deadly events as they seek the ultimate experience. The film stars Chris Hohenester, Wilfried Hochholdingner, Ulrike Panse, Dave Allert, RP Kahl, Laura Tonke, Doreen Jacobi and Eva Habermann. Check out the trailer below.

Translate

Select L

On Blogic

Follow me o

Pages

- HOME
- LINKS
- CONTACT
- Rickey F
- A South Times S

Subscribe

Posts

Comm

Categorie

- horror
- and
- horror
- and
- horror
- horror
- trailer p
- photos
- life pc
- movie
- (276) f
- news (
- news an